The Duckworth Zone

In the Duckworth Zone, things work in reverse. Liberal Tammy Duckworth's solutions to problems are the opposite of what Illinois families want. In the Duckworth Zone, Democrat Tammy Duckworth's answer to the illegal immigration crisis is unsecure borders, "amnesty" and letting them get Social Security benefits. That's just unreal, but it's her record.

Tammy Duckworth has it backwards on illegal immigration.

Opposes stronger border security

America's border with Mexico is not secure. Right now, there are 11 million illegal aliens in our country. (Washington Post, 4/23/09) The Border Patrol needs help, and they need it now. One plan to secure the border is to temporarily assign 6,000 National Guard troops to the border to assist our overwhelmed Border Patrol agents.

This would allow increased patrols to stop illegal aliens from sneaking across our border. But not in the Duckworth Zone. She is against assigning National Guard troops to prevent illegal immigration on our nation's border with Mexico. (Washington Post, 4/23/09) Duckworth even said it would "create more problems than it solves."

"Amnesty" plus benefits

If elected to Congress, Democrat Tammy Duckworth says she would support a "pathway to citizenship" for illegal aliens. The Las Vegas Review-Journal recently reported pathway to citizenship as a "different term for the same concept" as amnesty. (4/17/09)

The "amnesty" plan Duckworth supports could mean giving 11 million illegal aliens a pass for breaking our laws. Not only that, it would let them get taxpayer-funded benefits, including Social Security. The Congressional Budget Office estimates that, under this proposal, people who worked here illegally would claim nearly $520 million in Social Security benefits per year. (Washington Post, 4/23/09)

Democrat Tammy Duckworth is in another world on illegal immigration.

Up is down. Front is back.
The unreal becomes the real.
