A proposal supported by liberal candidate Tammy Duckworth would pay Social Security to illegal aliens.

Our Social Security system is already overburdened. Many of today's younger workers don't even think it will be around for them when they retire. But in her campaign for Congress, Tammy Duckworth has said she supports an "amnesty" proposal that will make it even worse.

She says she supports a "pathway to citizenship." But the Las Vegas Review-Journal recently reported that pathway to citizenship is a "different term for the same concept" as amnesty. (4/17/06)

Right now, there are 11 million illegal aliens in our country. Tammy Duckworth supports an "amnesty" plan that would pay Social Security benefits to illegal immigrants for the time they worked here illegally.

The Congressional Budget Office estimates that, under this proposal, people who worked here illegally would claim nearly $50 million in federal benefits, including Social Security. (Washington Post, 8/22/06)
